

A sociological historian will lay it down as a first principle that the human mind is most susceptible to the exigencies of food, climate, and soil and a fourth consideration classified as "the general aspects of nature." It is known that the inhabitants of a country disenchanted by vast mountains, deep and unexplored forests, by prodigious storms, and by great streams are superstitiously impressed by these general aspects of nature.

The vicinity of Mer de la Pêche is almost oppressive to the dignity of the forests, the extent and solemnity of its swamps, and the astounding windiness with which one approaches abrupt turns in the road and is likely to drive precipitately into almost bottomless lakes.

FOES OF SALOON TO SHUT EYES TO MOIST NEW YEAR

Wet Celebration Is Minor
Matter, They Say.

Events incident to Chicago's plans for celebrating New Year's eve followed in rapid succession yesterday, and left prospective celebrants wondering just what they'll do with their hands next Sunday night.

Following were the day's principal developments:

The Illinois Anti-Saloon league, at a meeting in the Great Northern hotel, decided to ignore discussion of the celebration on the grounds "it is a temporary matter" and should not take precedence over the fight the league is waging against the modern equivalent of the saloon.

Mr. Andrews in Dental.

Investigation by Prohibition Director James C. Andrews of previous intemperance of proposed leniency toward "lifers of hip liquor." Mr. Andrews made a fat denial of previous intemperance attributed to him, in which it was stated that the local prohibition drive was primarily against bootleggers and that only flagrant violations by café patrons would result in arrest.

Announcement by Arthur Burrage Parwell, president of the Chicago Law and Order league, that he will have his term in action throughout the city. Mr. Parwell directed a broadside against Mayor Thompson, Chief of Police Fitzmorris, police captains, and policemen for their failure to halt liquor violations in Chicago.

Count Reported on Way.

Information that "Count" William D. Tamm, hailed as "one of the great legal minds," is rushing toward Chicago from Washington and probably will take a hand in New Year's eve sleuthing, although ostensibly his mission is to be present in Federal Judge Wilkeson's court Tuesday morning, when the first of more than fifty liquor violation cases developed by Tamm's office during his sensational "noisy raids" here last July will be called.

Mr. Andrews' formal statement released Chicago's much discussed "M" in the minds of those who believe it was at least to be tilted. The statement follows:

"My statement that the lid is off in Chicago and that violations of the national prohibition act will be counted against in any way, is absolutely without foundation. There is absolutely no authority for any such intemperance on the part of any one. The law will be vigorously enforced in all its provisions and no violations will be winked at or tolerated in any way."

Jail for Violation.

"My forces have been augmented sufficiently to cope with the situation and for one night, violating the law by ships, form, or manner, will be rounded and thrown into jail. Any violation that there has been a reversal of the program heretofore announced for strict observance of New Year's eve is without the slightest foundation."

"In so far as the prohibition office is concerned, New Year's eve will be a day of observation. The mere fact that tanks are concealed under blankets or napkins is no defense. The law provides that wherever there is reason to believe a person is carrying liquor, such person may be searched and arrested where liquor is found in his possession."

"Let it also be understood that any one who carries liquor in an automobile either on his person or in the car subjects such automobile to confiscation, in addition to his arrest and prosecution."

At the Anti-Saloon league meeting Bishop Thomas Nicholson, national president of the league, said the present fight for prohibition is to determine whether a democratic government could not only pass laws but enforce them.

PUBLIC WORK TO END IDLE CYCLES, ECONOMIST SAYS

Wesley C. Mitchell, director of the national bureau of economic research, offered a proposal to solve the national unemployment situation in times of business depression at yesterday's session of the convention of the American Association for Labor Legislation.

His recommendation was to plan work far enough in advance to make them effective in times of unemployment.

Mr. Mitchell is considered one of the leading authorities in America on unemployment and business depression. The recommendation he made at the convention yesterday was in the form of a forecast of a report to be made in January by President Harding's unemployment conference. Mr. Mitchell is a member of the committee to make the report.

"The investigation disclosed that there were about 4,000,000 idle men at the end of the depression of 1921," reads the report.

Husband Drank, Wounds Spouse, Son Shoots Him

Blaise Masucci, 48 years old, 541 West 11th street, was shot in the left arm yesterday afternoon by his son, Joseph, 19 years old, after the father had fired at the son, the bullet grazing Mrs. Masucci. Joseph was arrested and is being held pending the outcome of his father's wounds, which are said to be serious.

According to the son, his father came home intoxicated Wednesday night and began to beat Mrs. Masucci. When Joseph remonstrated with him, he became angry, and drawing the revolver, fired at his son. Joseph and his father fought for possession of the gun, which was gained by the former.

Healys of Chicago, in N. Y. with African Hunt Trophies

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—With the freak head of the largest rhinoceros ever killed in East Africa and numerous other prized trophies safely on their way to Chicago to be mounted for museum purposes, Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Healy of that city, today in their suite at the Hotel Plaza told a thrilling tale of physical hardships and dangers encountered in a four-months' hunting trip in the jungles, 400 miles from the sea.

The huge rhinoceros, which was killed by Mr. Healy, has a front horn twenty-nine inches in height, while the rear horn, which usually is undeveloped and about eight to ten inches in height, is thirty-seven inches long and curved over the front horn.

Natives in Awe of Beast.

"Maasi natives flocked in from miles around to see the huge beast and his peculiar horns," said Mr. Healy. "Nothing like it had ever been killed before and many of the natives stood in superstitious awe of the freakish head, believing that the animal was endowed with some spiritualistic power and that I was in danger for having killed it. We found the hunting unusually good and had our pick of leopards, tigers, and the most ferocious lions I have ever seen."

Mrs. Healy brought back the third largest lion ever killed in the Kenya colony, shot by herself, and which measured almost eleven feet from nose to tip of tail. Mrs. Healy also killed three leopards during her stay in the jungles.

Kills Lion with First Shot.

"For several weeks I refused to join in the hunting," related Mrs. Healy, "for I hated to see any wild creature shot down. Later, after I had seen several lions and heard their fearful roars, I decided that I wanted to kill one. We had a dead camel dragged through the brush one afternoon and I shot the lion. The first bullet was enough, though, for I sent it right through his heart."

Asked if she was frightened, Mrs. Healy, a small, dainty young woman, flicked the ashes from her cigarette as she nonchalantly replied:

"No, indeed. Didn't I kill him with the first shot?"

Leopard Drops at Her Feet.

However, one of the leopards did give her a scare. "He dropped right at my feet," she declared, with a little shudder. "I thought he was going to get me in spite of the four bullets in his body. I dreamed about him that night and every time I walked I expected to hear him clawing at the tent wall."

The Healys were accompanied by Will Judd, who was the guide for Col. Roosevelt when the late president hunted in that territory. Judd's knowledge of the country and his ability to speak with the Maasi tribesmen, who are a warlike race, saved the hunters from many dangers.

The Healys hunted over a large territory, going as far as West Tibet, where Mr. Healy killed a bora slough, which is a giant elk. The one falling before Mr. Healy's gun is believed the eighth largest ever slain.

The Healys have been gone from Chicago since April, 1929, pursuing a great deal of the time in Peking, where they have an estate. Mr. Healy is connected with Lyon & Healy in Chicago. They expect to remain in New York several weeks, visiting relatives before returning to their Chicago home.

BRAND LIQUOR DEATHS MURDER AS 3 DIE IN CITY

Coroner to Hunt, Bring Sellers to Trial.

Coroner Oscar Wolf joined forces with Sheriff Peter Hoffman in his campaign against bootleggers and saloonkeepers who deal in poisoned "moonshine" whisky yesterday and declared that he would put forward every ounce of energy in his office in assisting the sheriff to wipe out the liquor traffic which has claimed scores of victims during the last few months.

A general order will be prepared by the coroner this morning requiring all deputies and physicians in the coroner's office to pay special attention to "moonshine" deaths and find the person who sold the liquor. The seller will be brought to court on charges of manslaughter, the coroner said last night.

Nearly Towns After Evidence.

At the same time it was learned that residents of Waukegan, Evanston, Lake Forest, Wilmette and other north shore towns are taking a deep interest in the campaign against "bootleg" and intend doing all they can to assist the authorities. A number of them have been busy for the last few days gathering evidence against roadhouse owners, to present to the sheriff, it was said.

Coroner Wolf decided to take up arms against the liquor traffic when it was brought to his attention that "moonshine" was the cause of one man's death early in the day and that several others were ill in hospitals suffering from alcohol poisoning.

3 Die Within 48 Hours.

Louis Sackiewicz, 28 years old, was the latest victim of poisoned whisky. He died in St. Elizabeth's hospital after being removed from his home at 1029 North Winchester avenue. Sackiewicz is the third person who has died in the last forty-eight hours from "moonshine" poisoning.

"The records of this office," said Mr. Wolf, "show that there are any number of deaths due unquestionably to alcoholism. This has got to stop. The people of this county should be informed of the situation so they can steer clear of drinking any of this poison."

"I intend to order all the men working under me to take special pains in the inquests of persons who died from drinking. They are to call in all the witnesses who might have knowledge of the whereabouts of the person who sold the liquor."

Death Charge on Seller.

"If we are able to trace the whisky from the dead man to the person who sold it, it is going to mean that he will be charged with manslaughter. We are going through with this thing and not stop until the traffic is wiped out."

An example of what bootlegging is doing to destroy morals as well as life was seen in the report which Mrs. Kathleen Moore, juvenile officer of Evanston, submitted to Mayor Harry P. Pearsons yesterday. She showed 172 complaints of misconduct on the part of minors during the year, against 144 last year.

"The reason for this increase is the fact that moonshine is being sold openly at roadhouses and saloons all over the north shore," said Mrs. Moore.

BOMB IN MAIL KILLS WOMAN IN WISCONSIN

Husband, to Whom It Was Sent, Loses Hand.

Marshfield, Wis., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Postoffice Inspectors William J. Fahy and H. L. Jackson arrived here today from Chicago to take charge of the investigation of an infernal machine, which exploded yesterday in the home of A. J. Chapman, president of the board of county commissioners. Mrs. Chapman was killed by the blast, her husband's hand was shattered, necessitating amputation, while a grandson was injured.

According to local postoffice officials the infernal machine was mailed at the Marshfield postoffice and contained no return address. Wrapped in common paper and tied with coarse string, its weight indicated that it probably was a piece of gas pipe loaded with explosives and attached to a block of wood.

Opening the Package.

It was delivered to the Chapman home, a short distance from town, early in the afternoon, and Mrs. Chapman, believing it was a belated Christmas gift, was standing by the table while her husband opened it.

As he cut the string it exploded and she was fatally injured, while Mr. Chapman was left handless, in which he held the knife, was shattered and has to be amputated. A young grandson, standing across the room, was slightly injured by a fragment which struck him in the forehead.

The outrage, the third to occur in the last six months, is believed to be traceable to Mr. Chapman's activities in the county. Despite the opposition, however, work on the project was pushed and six months ago a dredging machine used on the construction job was dynamited.

Arrest Promised Today.

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Dec. 28.—"The man who mailed the infernal package which was sent to the home of Mr. Chapman will be arrested tomorrow and charged with murder," District Attorney F. W. Calkins said last night. Mr. Calkins had just returned from Marshfield.

"The death package was mailed from a point on rural route No. 5, out of Marshfield, which we know," Mr. Calkins said. "The person we suspect is a land owner in the district of which Mr. Chapman was drain commissioner and had on several occasions upbraided Chapman for his alleged overstatements on his land."

BLACK EYES

MRS. ANNA P. BUTTS.

Black eyes, ruined drug stocks, and police court fines were added yesterday to the list of legal and static imbroglios which have featured the marital disturbances of Mrs. Anna P. Butts, 48 years old, and her 23 year old husband, Joseph C. Butts, druggist at 549 North Clark street. Mrs. Butts was fined $1 and costs by Judge John Richardson in the Chicago avenue court for an attack upon her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Butts, 1234 Newport avenue, who, she alleges, has alienated young Butts' affections.

The clash between the two women, which occurred in the North Clark street store, resulted in the destruction of several hundred dollars' worth of drugs. The "younger" Mrs. Butts appeared in court with both eyes blackened.

A year ago he was appointed chairman of a drainage commission and a drainage project fostered by the commission did not meet with the approval of a large number of the farmers in the county. Despite the opposition, however, work on the project was pushed and six months ago a dredging machine used on the construction job was dynamited.

POLICE FIRE ON, KILL VERA CRUZ PORT STRIKERS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1933; by The Chicago Tribune.] Mexico City, Dec. 28.—Again the Mexican government has struck at the bolshevik element, this time through the National railways. The railways issued orders today to place Tampico in the same category as Vera Cruz—as a port. Goods landed at Tampico will be hauled to Mexico City at the same rate as from Vera Cruz. This indicates an overwhelming victory for the steamship companies over unionized labor, which has tied up the port of Vera Cruz.

Professional strike leaders began stirring up the masses against capitalism three days ago in Vera Cruz. Early today all occupants of stalls and markets in the city, headed by Socialists and leaders of the "won't pay rent" association, attacked the inspectors who daily collect the market fees. Police, mounted and on foot, were compelled to fire on the mob and drive them out at the point of sabers. Some were killed and many wounded. The police today are guarding the market.

SHERIDAN FINDS 'OTHER MAN' WITH WIFE; BEATS HIM

First blood in the marital battle of Edward Sheridan, wealthy Board of Trade operator, with Mrs. Edna Terberry Sheridan was drawn Wednesday night, when the broker, known as "the thousand dollar man," severely beat a mysterious well dressed man whom he found in company with his wife at La Salle and Madison streets.

Shouts of theater bound loop crowds and the screams of Mrs. Sheridan attracted Policeman John Burns of the Central station, who arrested both men and took them to the station, where they were released when neither would make formal complaint against the other. The identity of the "other man," said by Sheridan to be a "home wrecker" and the father of two children, was not revealed.

Expected to Revive Suit.

The clash is expected to revive a suit for divorce filed last June in Superior court by Mrs. Sheridan, which was allowed to lapse when the couple reconciled for the fourth time since their marriage on Aug. 23, 1917.

"Ever since I filed my suit for divorce Mr. Sheridan has been attempting to get evidence of faulted misconduct on my part upon which to base a cross bill," declared Mrs. Sheridan, who lives at 3429 Elaine place. "This gentleman whom he so villainously attacked Wednesday night is an old friend of the family but not a close friend of mine. In fact, our chance meeting that night was the first in more than eighteen months."

Called Mrs. "Home Wrecker."

"I'm glad I hit him," said Sheridan. "I knew all about this affair with this fellow and so when Mrs. Sheridan told me she was going to the theater with Mrs. McGuire, I did not believe her. I followed her in a taxicab and found the pair together in front of the Tacoma building."

CHAMBER AWAITS PREMIER PARLEY ON REPARATIONS

Answers German Request for U. S. Commission.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Efforts of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to bring about a settlement of German reparations looking toward the stabilization of German currency and the resumption of European business, was brought to light today in the publication of an exchange of cablegrams between the American chamber and the Berlin Industrie und Handelskammer, in which the latter had asked for an American business commission to make a survey of the situation.

The reply of the American chamber admitted the advisability of a settlement of the reparations question, but deferred a definite decision on the appointment of such a commission pending the meeting of the allied premiers, Jan. 2, at which time the question of reparations will be discussed.

Backed by Berlin.
The correspondence, which was made public today by Julius H. Barnes, president of the American chamber, makes no reference to previous negotiations, which have been rumored for some days, except that the German cable includes a statement that "the German government will be pleased to welcome such a commission," and give it access to all sources of information. Declaring that Germany is willing to pay reparations "to the utmost" of its ability, without involving the destruction of its earnings and producing power, the Berlin cablegram sets out that the only way to arrive at a decision on what and how Germany can pay is through an "expression of business judgment" the question, and asks the chamber to appoint a "commission of outstanding character, ability, and impartiality to express an American opinion on this question."

If this is done, the cablegram continues, and a basis is decided on and accepted by the interested powers, the German government will "immediately thereafter take steps to stabilize its currency in the interest of financial order at home and the encouragement of foreign commerce."

America Welcomes Attitude.
In his reply Mr. Barnes points out that American business men welcome the "affirmation of the responsibility by Germany of the obligation to make restitution to the utmost," and adds that it will defer action on the request until after the meeting of the premiers, Jan. 2.

Government officials who have steadfastly refused to discuss the possibility of an American business commission on reparations wouldn't comment on the correspondence today.

MESSAGE REJECTS BORAH BILL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—President Harding's letter to Senator Lodge (Rep., Mass.), opposing the proposed amendment to the pending naval bill, authorizing and requesting the President to call an economic conference to deal with conditions in the war-torn nations of Europe, was given today by Senator Lodge (Rep., Idaho) for a world economic conference, follows: "My dear Senator Lodge: Replying to your inquiry relative to the proposed amendment to the pending naval bill, authorizing and requesting the President to call an economic conference to deal with conditions in the war-torn nations of Europe, I write to you that I know of no prohibition against such an expression on the part of the congress, but I do frankly question the desirability of such an expression. I think it is undesirable because of false impressions which may be conveyed thereby to Europe, and even more undesirable because of the wrong impression it conveys to our own people."

"On the face of things it is equivalent to saying that the executive branch of the government which is charged with the conduct of foreign relations is not fully alive to a world situation which is of deep concern to the United States."

Has Been Considered for Months.
"As a matter of fact, the European situation has been given most thorough and thoughtful consideration for many months. Without questioning the good faith of the proposal, I am very sure it would have been more assembly, and the action of the congress could be taken much more intelligently, if proper inquiry had been made of the state department relative to the situation in which we are trying to be helpful."

"Of necessity, the communications of state department relative to diplomatic matters among nations cannot be bulletined from day to day, but the situation is never withheld from members of congress who choose to inquire for confidential information in a spirit of cooperation."

"Such inquiry would have revealed the utility of any conference call until it is understood that such a conference would be welcomed by the nations concerned, within the limits of discussion which the expressed will of congress compels this government to impose."

Hampered by Reservations.
"In ratifying the treaty of peace with Germany the senate made a reservation that the United States should not be bound by the treaty of peace with Germany until it has been ratified by the senate."

U. S. WATCH ON RHINE SLOWLY RUNNING DOWN

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
COBLENZ, Dec. 28.—[The Watch on the Rhine] (made in U. S. A.) is running down.

Or the situation could be compared to the ancient method of computing time (the hour glass), with the soldiers, like grains of sand, obeying the laws of gravitation.

From ten divisions of as fine men as any general would ever want the American forces in Germany have dwindled to a thousand officers and men. There is Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, and Col. Hart is back at chief of staff, and a headquarters occupying the same old building on the river front. Across the Rhine Old Glory still flies up high on Ehrenbreitstein. But our garrison there now is hardly not be represented on the reparations commissions without consent of the congress, and as such consent has been given. Moreover, in creating the world war debt funding commission that body was restricted to explicit terms for rates of interest and ultimate time of payment.

"If congress really means to facilitate the task of the government in dealing with the European situation the first practical step would be to free the hands of the commission on that helpful negotiations may be undertaken."

Deals Are Delivered.
"In discussions with foreign governments the previous administration and the present administration have insisted that the question of European debts to the United States is distinct and apart from the question of reparations, but Europeans hold a contrary view, and it is wholly inconsistent to invite a conference for the consideration of questions in dealing with which the government is denied all authority by act of congress."

"So far as the limitation of land armaments is concerned, there seems to be at this time no more promising prospect of accomplishment than when the conference was held in Washington a year ago. Here again I venture to warn the senate against the suggestion to our own people or a gesture of promise to the world which cannot be fulfilled until the nations directly concerned express their readiness to cooperate to such an end."

"With respect to a limitation of auxiliary types of naval craft, which are not limited by the present naval treaty, it is to be said that such an agreement is much to be desired whenever practicable, but we may reasonably postpone our further endeavors along this line until the agreement made at the Washington conference secure the final sanction of all governments concerned."

WARREN G. HARDING.

SHOWDOWN ON KEEPING TROOPS ON THE RHINE

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—A showdown in the senate on the question of maintaining American troops on the Rhine is promised within the next day or two.

Senator Reed (Dem., Mo.) announced today that he would force a roll call on his amendment calling upon the president to order the immediate withdrawal of the American troops from Germany. He has offered the amendment as a rider to the Borah amendment to the naval appropriation bill, and it is also ruled out on the point of order, Senator Reed will offer his proposal as a separate proposition, and if it is also ruled out he will appeal from the decision of the chair, thus forcing senators to take a stand for or against the measure.

Out for a Showdown.
In case this fails, Senator Reed as well as other senators are prepared to offer a resolution calling for the return of the troops, and will demand its immediate consideration. Should this move be blocked, they will then propose a rider to the army appropriation bill providing that none of the money appropriated for the army should be used for the maintenance of American troops in Germany. One way or another, they are determined to make senators face the question of bringing home the American troops.

More Opinion Given.
Senators expressed themselves today as follows:

Senator France (Rep., Md.)—I am strongly in favor of the return of the American troops (Rep., R. I.)—I would like to have the opinion of the executive branch of this government before I express an opinion about the matter.

Senator Kellogg (Rep., Minn.)—I am not sufficiently informed about the question to express an opinion. I would like to hear what the state department has to say about it.

OFFICIAL BONUS BLANKS READY IN EARLY JANUARY

Attention, ex-service men!
Official blanks for the $25,000,000 soldiers' bonus recently passed are not yet ready for distribution. This is called to your attention because the "American Soldier" department is receiving thousands of letters asking for blanks.

Many of the writers insist that the blanks are ready and that they have sent them. They say that they are afraid they won't get their bonuses if their applications are late.

The Treasury will give notice in these columns the moment the official blanks are ready and a staff of experts will be on hand to aid you in filling them out. Latest reports from Springfield indicate that this will be shortly after the first of the year.

The clerical staff of the Illinois service recognition bureau, which up to the present consists of three men, yesterday began preliminary work at Springfield in a room in a garage across the street from the building where the board's headquarters will be after Jan. 2.

Immediate duties of the staff consist of handling applications for employment, more than 100 of which have been received. Under a rule adopted by the board early this month, all employees must be persons eligible to compensation under the $25,000,000 soldiers' bonus act.

The first three employees of the board are George P. Hoffman, Bloomington; William K. Murphy, Springfield; and Earl McFallen, Champaign.

14 ARE HELD IN $26,350 HARTMAN STORE ROBBERY

Furniture valued at more than $25,000 and $1,500 in cash stolen from the Hartman Furniture and Carpet company, Pershing road and La Salle street, have been recovered by the police, it became known last night, and fourteen persons, all but two of them employees of the firm, are under arrest.

The pay roll was stolen from a small safe in a warehouse of the company on Dec. 23. William Geisler, 34 years old, 3434 South Kildare street, a shipping clerk, and Walter R. Rose, 34, 3310 Berteau avenue, his assistant, were questioned. When police searched their apartments, the theft of the furniture was revealed and names of alleged accomplices furnished.

Robbers Kidnaped Police.
Though kidnaped by bandits who stole her $150 ring last Wednesday,

Miss Chetilla Schaeffer, 21 years old, of 123 Buena street, daughter of the wealthy head of the Jointless Fire-brick company, still retained a kindly feeling for the thieves yesterday. Five men in an automobile at Wilson and Hazel avenues kidnaped Miss Schaeffer and her escort, George Peterson, as they were returning from a theater, putting them out of the car a few blocks from the home of the girl.

"They were very courteous," she said, "and did not even offer to steal my ring coat."

Bravado House Loomed.
Burglars entered the home of Mrs. Earl DeLoe, daughter of Chancellor L. DeLoe, president of the Evanston board of education, Wednesday night. Police were told yesterday, and hiding the maid escaped with jewelry and cash totaling $500.

Five men arrested here in whose possession bonds worth $50,000 were discovered are believed to have stolen them from Maryland banks. John Noble of the Maryland state police arrived in Chicago yesterday to identify them.

HEAD WEDGED IN CHAIR, MAN DEED John Harnwood, 50 years old, 3415 South State street, was yesterday arrested in a rooming house, when his head was wedged in a chair. He was a member in the McCormick branch of the International Harvester company plant.

FAHERTY EFFORT TO SHIFT EXPERT ONUS SQUELCHED

"Approval" by Citizens'
Bodies Denied.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
Representatives of various civic organizations and several public officials yesterday took the mask off Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of public improvements.

Faherty gave out a statement in which he justified himself and sundry others in the face of the report of the Municipal Voters' league showing that the record of Faherty and others in connection with the scheme to shift the onus of expert fees obtained from the city in a trifle more than a year. Faherty said that the finance committee and the city council adopted the percentage plan of expert fees after a subcommittee had made its recommendation, and after the subcommittee had heard representatives of the Citizens' association, Western Society of Engineers, Society of Public Efficiency, Civil Service Reform association, and other organizations.

Singleton Enters Denial.
"There is no basis whatever for any statement to give the impression that the Citizens' association approved of these enormous expert fees," said Stanley M. Singleton of the association. "This association thought it was such a outrage, when only $225,000 had been paid the experts, that we called the attention of the state's attorney to the subject."

"The Civil Service Reform association," said Russell Whitman, "urged that experts be put in the classified service, and the subcommittee so recommended. That certainly is opposed to the system used. It is absurd to suggest to give the impression that the Civil Service Reform association gave even indirect or faint indorsement of the expert plan used."

Against Percentage System.
E. E. Nethercut, secretary of the Western Society of Engineers, was at the meeting of the council finance committee when Faherty, sponsor of the experts, and Ald. Wallace, exposé of the experts, got into a fist fight. He said yesterday:

"The Western Society of Engineers always has been against the percentage system of compensation for experts. It has urged a per diem basis of employment on such a plan that the city would get full value for every dollar spent. We have urged constructive efforts to curb unnecessary expenditures and at the same time have demanded all constructive expenditures."

The bureau of public efficiency "has" only through its formal statement but a friend of the organization said.

"It is ridiculous to think that the bureau even considered the expert plan for a mere second. The sole reason of the bureau, its reason for existence, is curtailment of unwarranted expenditures."

Nance Denies Indorsement.
Dr. Willis O. Nance, drainage trustee, was chairman of the subcommittee which Faherty referred. He said: "The subcommittee was appointed because the finance committee thought that the per diem fees for experts were getting excessive. The whole idea of the subcommittee was to get and service for less cost. The subcommittee never recommended anything which could be the wildest stretch of the imagination be considered as an indorsement of the $2,500,000 and the five experts."

FINE HOME FOR COVENANT CLUB IS NOW ASSURED

Construction of a new home for the Covenant club on the site of the present building at 14 North Dearborn street, was assured at a meeting last night, when 220 of the 700 members of the organization subscribed for $640,000 worth of bonds which will be issued to finance the project.

The board of directors was authorized to proceed with formulation of plans for the structure. First plans called for construction of a building to cost $700,000, but with the amount subscribed last night as an indication that the total amount of bonds sold will surpass $1,500,000, more elaborate plans will be worked out.

Exonerate Oak Park Boy in Hunting Fatality

A coroner's jury sitting at Elgin, Ill., in the death of Everett Baker, 16 years old, 416 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park, who was accidentally shot and killed last Wednesday by George Pyott, son of a former mayor of Oak Park, while hunting on a farm near Elgin, yesterday exonerated young Pyott from all blame.

Frederick Wurtzback, 66 years old, of Minneapolis, Minn., dropped dead in the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station of heart disease yesterday.

DIZZY EGG ZOOMS AS "PAPER SALES" END; OFF 16 CENTS

Dixy from the heights to which it had soared, the altitudinous fresh egg has plunged 16 cents downward on the path to normalcy in less than a week. R. J. Poole, city high cost expert, said yesterday in announcing that at present the retail price for strictly fresh eggs should not be more than 55 cents a dozen.

The Chicago Mercantile exchange ceases trading in storage eggs for the year today and will begin trading only in fresh eggs after Jan. 1, Mr. Poole said. The fact that there are $13,346 cases of storage eggs in Chicago at present, as compared to 262,241 a year ago, proved, according to Mr. Poole, that by trading in "paper eggs"—certificates for carload lots—the exchange created a false egg shortage and an unnecessarily high price.

As a result of the sudden shift in wholesale prices for both fresh and storage eggs, one manipulator at present has certificates for 134 carloads of storage eggs for which there is no official market. Mr. Poole said.

BUCKET FALLS 21 STORIES; HITS MAN.

LUNDIN ADVISES MAYOR TO KEEP FITZMORRIS

BY PARKE BROWN.
Fred Lundin thinks "it's too late" for Mayor Thompson to oust Chief of Police Fitzmorris.

That was one of the messages brought back by Dr. John Dill Robertson from Kansas City and related in the secret conferences between Mayor Thompson, Gov. Small, and some of their principal henchmen.

The principal statement thus relayed was that Mayor Thompson ought not to be a candidate this spring. The life of the Lundin-Thompson ring had run its course. But the next question was whether, if Thompson runs, he ought to submit to the demands of committeemen that Fitzmorris be thrown out. "It's too late," was the answer made by Lundin, according to Dr. Robertson. It is believed Lundin meant that it would have been a good thing if Thompson several months ago had named a chief politically more liberal than Fitzmorris, but that there would be a reaction against a summary ouster on the eve of the primary.

Whole Words Drop Out.
This word from the wizard is believed to have settled finally Mayor Thompson's previous decision to stand by Fitzmorris, but it is not expected to help the situation within the ring or sanitation. At a recent inventory of the pledge card situation several wards failed to report. Some of the missing committeemen were said to be Lundin followers opposed to Fitzmorris.

Dr. Robertson, in an interview yesterday, admitted that he met Lundin in Kansas City.

Lundin on the Move Again.
From another reliable source it was learned that Lundin already has left Kansas City for some point in Florida. It is expected he will spend the winter there. The school board grand jury resumes its work next week and its operations will continue indefinitely.

In the anti-ring Republican camps important discussions of candidates have been resumed. A. A. McCormick, former president of the county board and former anti-Thompson council leader; Gen. Abel Davis, and Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder were given serious consideration.

On the doors of the city hall yesterday appeared paper stickers bearing the words, "Happy New Year! Everybody has agreed on Dennis J. Egan for mayor of the city of Chicago."

In the Sherman house a "citizens' committee" has opened headquarters and is sending out literature for John B. De Voney, real estate broker and former banker. De Voney is best known to the public in connection with two divorces obtained by different wives, a suit for breach of promise, a suit for the return of a ring and similar affairs.

On the Democratic side, while everything is being held at a standstill until the next meeting of the managing committee and other representative Democrats to be appointed by Chairman Martin J. O'Brien, several candidates are getting busy on their own account.

It is reported that James T. Igou, city clerk and anti-organization candidate, is trying to build up his force.

CADILLAC SERVICE

There are at the Cadillac Service Station hundreds of tools specially designed by Cadillac tool makers to do work which under ordinary shop practice is done by slow and less accurate hand operations.

These tools, representing an investment of thousands of dollars, in turn save Cadillac owners many thousands in shop charges. Abolishing the usual method of removal of snug-fitting gears, frozen shackle bolts, bushings, etc., with hammer and chisel, they perform their work without damage to parts and with a resultant saving of both material and time.

THE RAILROAD TERMINAL PROBLEM.

Last week the old Polk street depot burned. It did not burn down. The tower, a landmark, remained, and enough of the building to be restored. For the immediate convenience of the traveling public that is all very well, but the incident reminds us to inquire how the plan for joint terminals is getting on. Is it getting on at all, except like Chicago and the rest of us, in years?

We are not complaining, we are simply inquiring. We realize there are difficulties in the path of logical and efficient terminal consolidation. But it is just because we realize it that we confess to an anxiety lest they cheat the city and the public of an early solution. And we recall that a report of experts to that very useful agency, the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, declared in March of this year that "the increasing concentration of business in the great commercial centers has for a long period been evidence to the railroads of the approaching saturation of terminal capacities in their present form." Furthermore, said this report, "mounting terminal operating costs have so reduced the revenue derived from line haul that few roads are able, individually, to finance expansion of terminal facilities, and in the large traffic centers such expansion has become impracticable because of rising values and the necessity of using the space for other than railroad purposes."

That is a truth that presses sharply on the consciousness of Chicago, which groans daily and hourly under the congestion and strangulation of its downtown district. We, of all communities in the country, must emphatically endorse the report's conclusion that in these circumstances joint action and joint use become imperative.

Our railroads have grown up under the impulse of individual initiative. They are private enterprises, though impressed with a public trust, and it is natural that a property which has been managed with foresight and efficiency should resist sharing its advantages with one less prepared. In fact, there is an element of private injustice in such a sacrifice, and certainly all fair minded men would favor the reduction of that injustice to a minimum. But there is a point at which private right and interest must give way to public need, and it would be far better for the railroads, even the strongest, to recognize their arrival at that point and voluntarily to make the necessary readjustments in the common and public interest rather than to force the imposition of an arrangement by public law and authority.

It is not untimely to point out that this is a critical period in the history of private management, and that it will pay the railroads to manifest very plainly a disposition to make whatever concessions to public needs a fair and considerate judgment demands. The air is full of complaint against the railroads, much of which is unreasonable and unjust, and some of which is not. Especially we have demands for reduction in rates, and on that point the factor of economy in operation is important, if not decisive, and terminal reorganization has much to do with operation costs and efficiency.

If radical legislation is to be successfully resisted, as we think it can be, the great financial and directing powers which rule the policies of the great systems must act with candor and loyalty to assist readjustments of facilities and operation so as to reduce costs and better service. We concede that some of the chief elements of high cost and reduced efficiency of service are virtually out of the control of the management, as, for example, high wages and want of cooperation for expeditious use of rolling stock by shippers. But it does not follow that anything the roads can do materially to rearrange their relations and methods may safely be left undone or postponed. On the contrary, the situation is such that the railroads ought to act with especial energy to meet all serious complaints and all substantial requirements of the public.

The terminal problem is difficult, but it is vital, and it should be attacked with vigor and public spirit until it is solved in the public interest, which in the long run is the interest of private investment.

OUR RHINE WATCH.
Senator Reed of Missouri has introduced a resolution for the recall of the American troops from the Rhine. Ordinarily congress has no business to tell the government where troops should be stationed, but for the most part that holds good only when the army is being maintained on American soil, or after congress has declared war. These troops are in Europe, although a treaty of peace has been signed with Germany and that treaty does not provide for their maintenance. Their presence in Europe is in accordance with an international policy which the country rejected. The present government is in power because the country rejected the policy which would have maintained troops in Europe. It was rejected because it entailed dangerous involvement in European affairs. The continuance of the troops is a continuance in dangerous involvement. In that case it is proper and fitting that the senate, which saved the country from the Versailles treaty in the first place, should indicate disapproval of the fact that a bad feature of that treaty is in actual operation in spite of its rejection both by the senate and by the people.

WHAT EUROPE NEEDS.

Europe needs stabilized currency, balanced budgets, permanently adjusted agreements for war reparations within reason, and reduced expenditures for war preparedness.

The currency cannot be stabilized until budgets are balanced. Budgets cannot be balanced until currency is stabilized. Reparations cannot be adjusted until currency is stabilized and taxes exceed governmental expenses. European countries call on the United States to help, with loans or cancellation of war debts. Germany calls on France to cut the reparations bill. France insists Germany shall pay to the limit. Most of them continue their mad careers. The United States says it will not help until they show a willingness to help themselves. They say they cannot help themselves without our aid.

It is a vicious circle. Affairs are so entangled that they must be considered in relation to each other. That is what the European countries involved seem not able to do. Bitterness, suspicion, and human limitations prevent it. The various countries say, "I won't if you don't," or "I will if you do," but each is afraid to take the initiative which might bring deeds from those words.

It is clear that they need to be brought together under strong direction to reach an agreement upon which all may act. There is a question as to whether the United States should provide that direction. Senator Borah believes we should, and asks the senate to ask the President to do so. If the senate agrees it will be up to the President.

We do not believe a favorable decision need commit the United States to any political entanglements. We already have certain economic relations with Europe. They exist, regardless of any opinion. The question is whether we can improve this relationship to our mutual advantage or whether any attempt to improve it would be to our disadvantage.

We want foreign markets. Our farmers complain that their returns are low. They sought to elevate them by obtaining a protective tariff for agricultural products. They failed to realize that Canadian or Argentine wheat, cattle or hogs can compete with surplus American production just as well in the markets of Europe as in the markets of the United States. They failed to realize that their returns are lowered in direct proportion to the decrease in European buying power caused by Europe's inability to sell here over our tariff wall.

Whether our markets are hampered by artificial tariff barriers or by domestic conditions at home or abroad makes little difference in results. Just now we know they are hampered by the economic confusion and maladjustment of Europe.

These, as well as the issue of political entanglements, are questions which must be considered with reference to the Borah proposal.

HUNTING DOWN ARBUCKLE.

Aid. Amritage has introduced a resolution in the city council directing that the showing of Roscoe Arbuckle pictures be prohibited in Chicago. He says that the motion picture business is preparing to "flood the notorious Arbuckle on the people."

Neither Arbuckle nor any other person offering entertainment can be foisted on any one. Even the United States permits the selection of movies to be a matter of individual taste and decision. People are not required to go to moving picture houses at all or to any in particular. Arbuckle does not work in pictures in themselves objectionable. If he did there would be a law to cover that.

Will Hays, who is a man of character, says the fat comedian has been punished enough for his moral errors. Such dereliction is all he can be charged with. Arbuckle makes a plea to the American people to give him a chance to make his living. He says he is contrite.

The temper of people who want to run him down as a hunted animal is not pleasing to real moralists. It is not moral and it is not in accord with some of our teachings. It denies forgiveness. It denies charity. It denies fairness. It casts the first and then an avalanche of stones. It makes the mass a savage herd. There was another lesson taught in a sermon which was preached upon a mount.

IN CAPUA.

Lion hearted Jack Kearns says "we" will fight anybody. "We" are Dempsey and Kearns. Dempsey will fight Gibbons, who weighs in at about 160. He will fight Willard, who is 60 or about 160. He will probably have to be helped through the ropes. He would fight Carpenter again. He might fight Jim Corbett. But lion hearted Kearns is not recognizing the presence of Wills and Dempsey isn't fighting at all. Our Neanderthal will keep on wintering in Capua until he has the abdomen of a carp and then some youngster, now coming down the road, will knock him from New Jersey into Hudson bay. A champion can be other than a fighting fool.

MENTAL TESTS FOR AUTOMOBILISTS.
(New York World.)

The Detroit judge who subjects speed law violators arraigned in his court to mental and physical tests is an interesting precedent in automobile psychology. His theory that defendants of sound mind should receive stiffer penalties than those found to be defective accords with the principles of criminal law. And his discovery of three persons of deficient mentality in one batch of speeders shows the value of the tests.

But why should it be left to a court to determine, after the law has been violated and as a condition of punishment, the capacity of the offender to run a car? Such tests should be made at the time of application for a license and enforced as a preventive measure. No person should be given the right to operate an automobile if his faculties are not up to par. The analogy of the locomotive and the high powered motor car is true enough, but it still holds true, as in the matter of fact the present condition of traffic congestion demand the exercise of all possible official care in commissioning an untrained individual to drive an automobile in city streets.

The incompetent in the car has become a problem of public safety for serious consideration. Judge Bartlett of Detroit approaches it on one side, but it is apparent that to be solved effectively it will have to be attacked at the source. It is not so much a question of keeping the defective driver out of jail as of keeping him out of the car altogether. If psychological tests can effect that result they will help to protect society at one of its new danger points.

When I am dead and deep in dust,
So you but plant a rose-tree there,
Get back to labor and to lust
And weep no more nor greatly care.

The dead they have so much to do,
If but your roses bloom and burn,
There shall be peace between us two,

"R. H. L. SHOULD be censured for the undignified cheer he has led for the fallen idols, Wallace Reid," Nick Nelson in Vox Pop. Oh goah, Nick! censor ahead, especially as we can see by your pleasant way of putting it that you are a gentleman. It's only the hell-cats who get criticism we object to. Our point is that Wally, although he went wrong, demonstrated before them that he was a man of splendid abilities who could lift thousands of people out of the doldrums and make them happy. He was a good fellow, he decided he would no longer be the slave of drugs. He's fighting a battle; a desperate, fairfaced battle against his enemies. We love a fighter, and so we're for him. Wally Reid says he was wrong, but he's trying to get right. Ah, Nick, no one with the self-control and the gentleness you display (unless V. P. censured you) can really be against a man who stumbled and fell and who is trying to come back. We believe in you, Nick. Write Wally a letter yourself.

OH, HAI, HAI! WE JUST CAN'T STOP LAUGHING, HAI, HAI, HAI!

Dear R. H. L.: Here's a snapple kumkum I heard in the office the other day and it's guaranteed to make even you laugh, and I'll even go so far as to say it'll make Buster Keaton grin. This first guy sez to the other guy, sez he, Didja ever hear the one about so and so, etc., etc., and this other guy says and come back at him with "Not Laterly." Goah Durn, ain't that a hinger! No copyright on it, so pass it along to your daily mail.

GOOD! WE'LL START RIGHT NOW.

Sir: May I suggest something new and interesting for the Line? That is, that you reserve some space each day for the worst contribution you receive. This would allow you an outlet for what I imagine to be your outraged feelings, each day; the proper outlet for your daily mail would be lowered considerably; and some of us who are at present without hope might occasionally make the Line.

CHRISTMAS—1917.

'Tis now five years ago my comrade died,
Shot down in all the splendor of his youth.
Dead in the world's eyes, but not in mine.
To those who know his sacrifice for Truth,
He always said that he would meet his Fate
Among the clouds—that he would never see
The Judgment Day, that he would be too late
To hear the bugles blow the victory.

On Christmas Day—a high patrol at dawn,
Black puffs of shrapnel in the Christmas sky,
A flaming wreck—another buddy gone
(It's bad enough on other days to die).

'Tis now five years ago my comrade died,
The war has been forgotten—pushed aside,
Oblivion holds the Master Souls who died
With Destiny—and yet, my comrade died.

KWANNON.

Symbol of all eternal things and strange,
Jade woman-god, you sit quite passively
Watching a thousand years of shifting change
With the half-smile of bland infinity.
Time's fingers, slowly smoothing out your brow,
Have worn away the furrows of the past
And in their stead have set upon it now
The mighty blankness of the things that last.
It terrifies me, silent thing of jade,
That universe of Nothing in your face;
Before I am helpless and afraid,
A child alone in some cold cloistered place,
Who hears the closing of a heavy door,
And steps receding on a marble floor.

DEIRDRE.

FIRST THE PAPERS say it's going to be a WET New Year's eve, and then they say it's going to be a DRY New Year's eve.

SOMETIMES YOU might think, if you glanced at us as usually, that we believe in the WET New Year's theory.

AND THEN AGAIN you might take a look at us and say we were committed to the DRY New Year's propaganda.

BUT YOU REALLY can't tell until New Year's eve. Then if you see us walk politely into the gilded cabaret, noiselessly pull back the chair at a table and say, "Waiter, please," in soft modulated tones—

YOU WILL KNOW that we coincide with the view that dry sleuths in full evening dress are all around looking for hip licker—

AND THAT THEY will pinch us and throw us into the cold, dark booby-trap, even if there is the odor of cloves on our breath.

HOWEVER, IF YOU see us walk into the College Inn on New Year's eve in a rough, raucous manner—

TURN OVER TWO tables, break three chairs and insist on kissing the waiter—

YOU CAN draw your own conclusions. R. H. L.

INVASION.
The problem in finding worm medicines is to hit on substances which will kill the worms but which will not harm the man in whom said worms live and eat and has his being.

While ago Hall, said and seemed to prove that the best of all worm medicines was carbon tetrachloride. The small detail necessary for the story was that Hall was working with worm medicines for dogs, cats, pigs, and such. We share our worms with our darling pets—why should they not share their worm medicines with us?

If carbon tetrachloride was the best worm medicine for dear little Fido, why was it not the best worm medicine for anxious Angeline, who slept with Fido and washed and kissed him? In all probability Angeline, of the Four Hundred, got her worms through kissing Fido.

At any rate, man, being an adventurous animal, decided to try it. Why should the members of that species of animal that sailed the uncharted oceans and discovered America that explored the River of Doubt and founded the Progressive party—why should such a race of adventures fail, paled with fear, in the face of carbon tetrachloride? Well, they have tried it, and the reports are beginning to come in. Most of them are from tropical countries.

He found it the best of all remedies for seat worms—also called pinworms and thread worms. It was in any one who has tried enemas of salt for pinworms and has not gotten satisfactory results it is worth while trying carbon tetrachloride in connection with the use of enemas of salt.

The dose, 30 minims for an adult and 10 minims for a child, seems safe enough. In fact, McVail gave drachm doses without any harmful effects.

A. N. Lash, likewise writing from the tropics, gives it in three teaspoonful doses (12 c. c.). But when Helase passed that way and told him of cases of acute atrophy of the liver caused by taking large doses of carbon tetrachloride he became afraid and cut down the dosage he employed.

Can you tell me the cause and should I diet?

Winter itch: Keep your skin greased. Keep the air in your living room and office cool and moist.

HEAT FOR FACTORIES.
Chicago, Dec. 22.—(To the Friend of the People.)—Smith owns a steam heated factory building, a portion of which he rents to Jones at a certain price per year, payable monthly. The engineer in charge of the building is not able to keep Jones' portion at a temperature which will enable him to work without considerable discomfort.

Is there a state law or ordinance governing the temperature at which factory buildings must be kept, and would Smith be liable for damages should he refuse to heat and the landlord retain control of a plant which supplies such premises and other premises, it would be an implied term of the lease that the landlord should maintain reasonable heat. He would be liable for damages naturally flowing from the default.

LET "FATTY" COME BACK.
New York, Dec. 27.—It is inconceivable that in a land whose cardinal principles are fair play and liberty there should be so many who are ready to condemn Fatty Arbuckle and drive him forever from the only business he knows. A court has found him not guilty of the charge on which he was arrested. Why shouldn't that alone be enough to settle the whole case?

I am in the moving picture business, it is true, but nevertheless I have nothing whatever to gain by having Arbuckle restored to full citizenship and all that such restoration implies. On the contrary, I even have something to lose because Arbuckle's pictures will compete with comedies produced by my own company. In spite of this, I think that barring him from his right to return to the screen is the unfair of unfair play.

ONE CAN JOKE POLITICS WITHOUT BEING A CROOK.
Chicago, Dec. 19.—I do not like the way logic as displayed in the two editorials in the same column in today's Tribune. Under the heading, "A Man for Mayor," you demand a male candidate for mayor, who has passed through some political career to fit him for the place.

In your second editorial you bewail the fact that the murderer of George and Gast must go unpunished. "They were murdered in broad daylight, in a crowded room filled with men of prominence in the politics of this town and agents of justice from bench and bar."

I quote your own words. I believe in a waste through such political quagmires will be clean enough to give us the kind of administration the city should have. I am not advocating Mrs. Bowen's "I am not advocating Mrs. Bowen's."

BIG CITY HARBOR ON LAKE CALUMET FINALLY ASSURED

U. S. Approves Project; Ready in Six Years.

By OSCAR HEWITT.

Secretary of War Weeks has granted a permit for a city owned harbor on Lake Calumet. This is the last link in the chain of authorizations necessary to proceed with the work. The permit was received yesterday by Maj. Rufus W. Putnam, United States engineer in Chicago. It appears that the harbor plan proposed by the council committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges urged by the council itself.

For years public officials have discussed an industrial harbor in Lake Calumet, but little progress was made until Ald. Ross A. Woodhull was made chairman of the council committee on the subject.

City Acquiring Land.

The harbor plan contemplates that the city will acquire all shore rights, about Van Vliet street, real estate owned by Van Vliet, Kleeman, lawyer, are engaged in that task. They reported yesterday they had obtained 90 per cent of the private shore rights. At the permit should speed up the work.

When these are fully acquired the city will have an area of 2,144 acres of submerged land, the city being granted the bed of the lake at the last session of the legislature. The harbor plan approved by the secretary of war provides that 1,451 acres shall be land on which the city can have located harbor facilities and industrial plants.

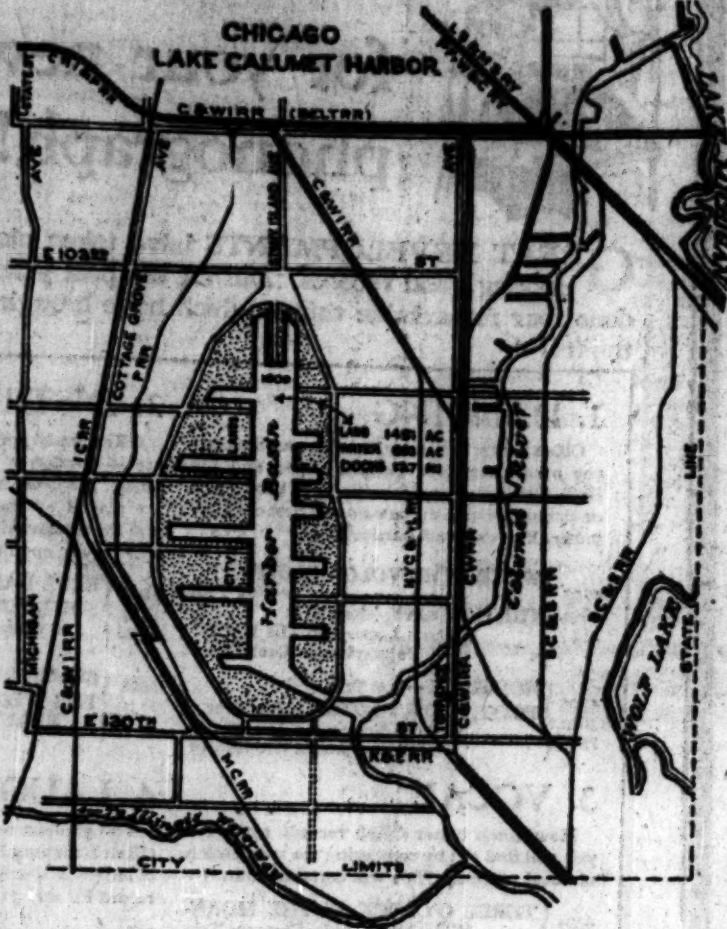

Deck Frontage 13.7 Miles. Through this land will be a wide channel with slips stretching out on either side. This will give a dock frontage of 13.7 miles and a total water area of 491 acres. The harbor is to be dredged to a depth of twenty-one feet and material excavated will be used to make the surrounding land.

This landlocked industrial harbor will be connected with Lake Michigan by the Calumet river, which the government has already dredged to stand at least 10 feet from its mouth at Lake Calumet. On the river at 150th street, just before it reaches Lake Calumet, the Ford Motor company purchased last week thirty acres, where, it was announced, Ford will spend $5,000,000 on a plant to employ 15,000 men. Relative to the harbor development, Ald. Woodhull said: "This splendid New Year's gift to Chicago about completes the work preliminary to actual construction. We have made all the soundings, borings, surveys, obtained the needed state legislation, and now arrives the federal permit. We have suits pending for confirmation of the city's title. When the decrees are entered work can start. Completion in Six Years. "The first task will be to extend the Calumet deep waterway 300 feet wide and 21 feet deep from the south end to the north end of the harbor basin. That will provide the fill for the electric roadway and railroad. This first task will cost around $600,000 and can be completed within a year. At that rate the entire harbor can be finished in six years. The potential value of the project is enormous. I feel certain it will contribute liberally to the industrial growth and development of Chicago, and therefore should be of direct benefit to all its citizens."

Outline of city-owned harbor on Lake Calumet, which is expected to be completed within six years. It will have 13.7 miles of docks.

WHY NOT FIRE ALL TRUSTEES? MITCHELL ASKS

Tender of an appointment as school trustee to two bankers yesterday was met with flat denunciations from both and this question from John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank: "Why doesn't the mayor remove them?"

The alderman-in-committee, composed of Ben S. Wilson, Oscar H. Olsen and John A. Richter, began their calls on the four bankers and three business men expected to refuse the appointment and Philip S. Graver, friend of the mayor in his football days, who is counted on to accept, by making an engagement with George M. Reynolds, chairman of the board of directors of the Continental and Commercial National bank.

Reynolds Declines With Thanks. Mr. Reynolds told the aldermen, according to their report to Mayor Thompson later, that he had been engaged in the banking business forty-two years and that instead of taking on new burdens he is reducing his labor as much as possible. He called attention to his plan for a trip to Europe in February and said it would be impossible to accept. The aldermen next journeyed to the office of Mr. Mitchell, who asked them the question, "Why doesn't the mayor remove them?" According to the report to Mayor Thompson, Mr. Mitchell indicated that the mayor was an entire new board, he might think of accepting a place.

Committee Explains Difficulties. The aldermen, the report says, offered the following explanation of the mayor's failure to remove the board: "We explained to Mr. Mitchell that it was impossible for the mayor to remove anyone; that two such cases, under Mayors Harrison and Busse were taken to the Supreme court and that it was ruled that the mayor had no authority to remove appointees to the board inasmuch as they had been appointed for a fixed term."

When we explained this situation to Mr. Mitchell in this way he said he appreciated the hard task that the mayor had in filling the position, but he said under no circumstances could he even think of taking the place."

Today the aldermen will call upon John G. Shedd, James Simpson, Edward Mandel and finally the mayor's friend, Philip S. Graver, if appointments can be arranged with all four.

STILL HAVE AUTOS

Thompson-Lundin school trustees yesterday were making a final effort to retain fifty-three automobiles which the city has been maintaining for several years for the private use of the trustees and some of their employees at an expense of more than $141,000 a year.

Hart Hanson, as chairman of the finance committee, objected at the meeting Wednesday when Trustees Davis and Severinghaus, both under indictment for grafting, attempted to railroad the matter of selling the cars to the building and grounds committee, which they control. It was finally decided to let the two committees act jointly.

TRIBUNE'S GREAT ADVERTISING GAIN TOLD AT DINNER

"I sincerely believe that you are the finest sales force attached to any organization in the world," said Capt. J. M. Patterson, co-editor of THE TRIBUNE, at the annual dinner of THE TRIBUNE's advertising department, held last night at the Drake hotel.

This compliment was evoked by the announcement by E. W. Parsons, advertising manager, that THE TRIBUNE has printed 19,470 columns more advertising in 1922 than during the year 1921. This exceeds by a substantial margin the quota of 9,050 columns set at the dinner one year ago.

Capt. Patterson emphasized that in the rapid expansion of THE TRIBUNE every possible promotion will be awarded to men within the organization, bringing in outsiders only when necessary for specialized tasks.

S. E. Thompson, business manager of THE TRIBUNE, read a letter from Col. R. R. McCormick, co-editor of THE TRIBUNE, now in Africa, in which he reviewed the achievements of this newspaper during the last twelve months, and then said:

"The last seventy-five years have been to THE TRIBUNE merely the period of childhood, youth, and adolescence, opening into the coming quarter century of flowering, verily manhood."

"There are those among you who refer with amazement and with pride to the growth of THE TRIBUNE during the last ten years. That growth must be as nothing compared to what the next ten years hold and what subsequent decades will unfold."

"The phrase 'The World's Greatest Newspaper,' originally conceived as an advertisement, then a cherished hope, then a growing conviction, is being realized."

TURKS PACK UP TO QUIT PARLEY AS BREAK NEARS

Expected to Defy Powers' Ultimatum Today.

League of nations and a tribunal try mixed cases and when foreigners were involved. He said it was incompatible with Turkish sovereignty and worse than capitulations. He insisted that Turkey gave foreigners all the necessary guarantees and described the transition period as useless and harmful.

Lord Curzon pointed out that Mr. Barrere had felt called on to make a weighty statement, expressing a warning that France could not accept the Turkish attitude. Lord Curzon associated himself with Mr. Barrere's refusal.

Answering Ismet Pasha's objections to foreign magistrates and mixed courts, he said that foreigners could not make a business in Turkey with but these guarantees, and so he hoped Turkey would reconsider its decision.

Ismet Pasha said in reply that he would make his observations on Lord Curzon's statement as soon as possible.

SPEECH FOR U. S.

Mr. Child spoke as follows: "The United States has an independent position based upon two important and serious considerations:—The first is the sanctity of obligations. The United States enjoys certain treaty rights which are obligations on the part of Turkey existing toward many nations. The United States is one among those nations whose rights under these obligations cannot be set aside by Turkey alone, except by repudiation.

"We do not believe Turkey desires to follow the unsuccessful example of nations which base their independence upon mere repudiation of international obligations.

Equity of Foreigners. "The second consideration is the fundamental equity which foreigners, such as nationals of the United States, who have invested their personal or material fortunes in Turkey, may expect from the Turkish government.

"The protection upon which they have counted cannot be withdrawn without the creation of an obvious injustice. All the world, including, I believe, the Turkish people themselves would look upon this injustice as an offense to those principles which create the international faith and fidelity so necessary for the functioning of the world's social security and the cooperation of its economic forces.

"The representatives of the United States understand that, in respect to these rights, created by treaty or by usage, the position of the Turkish delegation has been founded upon a desire for complete freedom from any restriction of the sovereignty or independence of Turkey.

"For Turkey's desire for freedom from restriction of sovereignty we have much hope. For its progress we have much hope.

Duty of Nation.

"We have observed that we are not the only representatives of nations here who have been inclined to accord Turkey recognition of her legitimate rights.

Turks Deprive U. S. Warships of Liberty in Eastern Ports

BY OTIS SWIFT.

(Chicago Times Herald News Service.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 28.—

American warships and destroyers on duty in Turkish waters must obtain visas from the Turkish government before entering ports, according to the terms of a note just transmitted from Ankara to the United States, the allies, and neutral powers.

In all cases application for permission to enter ports must give the name of the ship, armament, number of the crew, and the object of the visit. Warships are forbidden to enter ports between sunset and sunrise and are also forbidden to land detachments of marines.

The ruling affects twenty Yankee destroyers now on duty in the Black sea and the Aegean sea in connection with maintaining communications for the American government and relief organizations.

Delegate Expects Peace.

"Despite the difficulties which have yet to be faced, I believe peace will be successfully signed in Lausanne within a month," Hassan Bey, third Turkish delegate, told newspaper correspondents on his arrival here from the conference today.

Hassan Bey, who is en route to Ankara to report the recommendations of the Turkish delegation to the grand national assembly, expressed optimism at the outcome of all the questions now under discussion.

"Regarding Mosul," Hassan Bey said, "there has not been any special demand from America for the Mosul oil fields, but as America is a great oil producing country she cannot accept any arrangement eliminating her from the question. But America is not seeking political gains in Turkey, and we will therefore examine with the greatest good will and interest all propositions which come from America for exploiting our natural resources."

View on Capitulations.

Referring to capitulations, Hassan said that Turkey does not wish to accept any allied propositions for the protection of nationals which basically is only a disguised form of judicial capitulations. He stated the evacuation of Constantinople by allied troops will begin immediately after peace is signed.

Calls Turkey's Hand.

"Unfortunately this satisfaction does not appear at this moment to be a fact. The fact appears to be that the other nations and their nationals, no matter how ready they may be for means of cooperation with Turkey, are testifying that Turkey does not offer either continuance of the existing rights or the substitution for them of a system which will safeguard foreign persons and property in Turkey.

"Security may exist in the mind of the Turkish government, but the vital necessity is that the foreigners themselves must feel that it exists. To the representatives of the United States it appears clearly that, even if no question of obligation on Turkey's part exists in such a manner as would invite and not repel foreigners.

"From that intercourse upon which the prosperity of nations is founded and with full appreciation of the legitimate aspirations of Turkey for inviolate sovereignty, we point out that treaties which will give foreigners a status of security in Turkey can deprive Turkey of nothing, and indeed would be the very foundation for her economic future."

The Bootlegger's Bad Ways and Big Profits

The lazy and dreamy old Nassau that in other days traded in sponges and tropical fruits, is today a busy commercial center. The sponge-boats are now used as the small craft of the smugglers to reach the South Atlantic coast of the United States, while vessels of all sizes that range from sea-going tugs to a converted Spanish battle-cruiser, carry the cargoes of rum to New York and the New England coast. In the bar-rooms, at the dining-tables, in the lobbies and on the porches of the hotels and boarding-houses at Nassau, the capital city of the Bahama Islands, the bootleggers and whisky smugglers "talk of their plans, tell of their profits and laugh at Uncle Sam." There, according to Frank K. Dolan, who went to the Bahamas to study the rum-runners' methods for the New York Daily News, "a man is either 'right' or 'queer.'" If a stranger is suspected of being "queer"—thought to be a revenue officer, a detective, or some one likely to interfere with the rum-smugglers' operations—"he is curtly told to leave town, and in some instances blackjacked and beaten."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, December 30th, there is an informative and interesting account of the methods and operations of the whisky smugglers.

"Laughter Is the Sweetest Music in the World"

states the Detroit Free Press. Like the refrain of an enchanting melody it lingers in memory, a recollection of happy moments. More pleasing than the most delicate symphony is the spontaneous laughter of a crowd. It dulls care and creates joy. It tones the system. The urge to join is irresistible.

The Literary Digest gathers weekly from the world's press the brightest of the current laugh-provokers. The best of these are presented in the merry motion picture, "Fun from the Press." The funniest incidents, the most laughable jokes, and the pithiest patter on the serious questions of the hour are all included. It's sparkling-new every week. Watch for it at your local theater. CHILD LABOR DEVILS ON FARMS OUTSTRIP URBAN

S. Investigators Say
Reform Is Needed.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Child labor is more common in rural than in urban America and some of the conditions in the fields are quite as bad as those in the factories. Of more than a million children between the ages of 10 and 15 now working in the country, 647,000, or 61 per cent, are in agriculture, stock raising and animal husbandry. So the number of children actually are less than the figures show, and the social conditions probably are considerably better than the figures indicate, due to the change of census date to Jan. 1, 1920.

It is in farming with any such argument as that all farm work done by children is harmful or that all the juveniles listed as workers are in need of protection. The National Child Labor committee does not say emphatically that thousands of rural workers are being deprived of the fundamentals of a normal childhood. It says that in the case of some of them, even as factory and cannery workers have been exploited, and it is these we turned our attention to.

Not Reached by Former Law.
The federal child labor laws, which were knocked out as unconstitutional, reached only some 150,000 boys and girls out of more than a million in rural work. Few of the states have laws regulating agricultural and domestic service—the census shows 54,000 children 10 to 15 years, in domestic service and these are fields in which the worst workers deem effective reform can come only through a constitutional amendment, giving power to regulate juvenile labor.

In the worst regions of the north, in the middle country, the onion fields, the truck gardens, studies by the national child labor committee have shown conditions even more deplorable than in the textile mills and in the worst workshops. In the Imperial valley, California, an investigation of the national child labor committee reported that children of 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 years were found picking cotton regularly while school was in session. In Oklahoma children as young as 4 years were found among the cotton pickers.

Children Work Long Hours.
The children's bureau at Washington in a study of two counties in Colorado and three in Michigan, found that children between 6 and 15 years of age, 75 per cent of whom worked, spent half the child workers' time in this study were between the ages of 10 and 12 years, and more than 1,000 best working children were examined by the hygiene

PLAN DRIVE TO END DUBIOUS METHODS IN SELLING OF BOOKS

A drive to end all questionable selling methods in the subscription book business in the United States and Canada will be launched next week, backed by the united power of publishers representing a capital of $50,000,000.
A generation ago the subscription book field was the happy hunting ground of the unscrupulous shyster, said F. E. Compton, Chicago publisher, president of the Subscription Book Publishers' association, who has been appointed the Will Hays of the subscription book industry. "Today no business has a higher code of ethics," he said, "than the coming year to make employ methods which bring discredit on the whole industry. The Subscription Book Publishers' association has determined to clean house and has put a large appropriation in my hands to be used for this purpose. Where exposure and publicity fail to induce offending firms to reform their methods, we shall not hesitate to bring legal action."
Mr. Compton will be assisted by a business ethics committee. He plans to travel all over the United States and Canada the coming year to make personal investigation of selling methods of every subscription book publisher.

division of the bureau, and 70 per cent were reported as having postural deformities and malpositions, apparently due to the strain of their work. Long hours of work were considered to have been even more injurious. In Colorado the school authorities of counties in the sugar beet belt estimated that nearly 5,000 children between 6 and 15 miss an average of ten weeks of school because of work in the beet fields.

No Difference in Evil.
Says the bureau of education at Washington, "Child labor laws originally were conceived for the protection of child life, but now we see that they also have a function in enforcement of child rights. They formerly winked at some occupations, such as work on the farm, probably because these were thought harmless, but now these occupations are coming under regulations, as are those in stores and factories. The reason for this newer conception is plain: Child labor on the farm's child labor nevertheless; it interferes with the educational rights of the child. Presently we shall see that it is no man's prerogative to exploit a child, even though it be his own, and that the right to education is inalienable—along with the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."
(In the next article Mr. Evans will discuss some phases of child labor in industries.)

MAN FOUND DEAD IN WASHROOM.
The body of an unidentified man, believed to have died of heart disease, was found yesterday afternoon in a washroom at 105 West Carroll street, where it had been about two days, police say.

BEAUTY A FRUIT OF FAMILY TREE, SCIENTIST SAYS

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

You may be as handsome as Valentino, but it's only seven one-hundredths your fault. You have to thank your grandmother's blue eyes, your great-uncle's Roman nose and your third cousin's figure for 85 per cent of your beauty, according to H. Newman, professor of zoology at the University of Chicago, who yesterday told the American Sociological society, in session at the Auditorium hotel, that a shuffling and reassembling of hereditary characteristics influenced an individual 93 per cent to the 7 per cent environment influence. To make the matter of facial pugnitude more difficult, Prof. Newman declared that heredity may influence one side of the face more than the other. Instead of calling the result "bad looks," the professor named it "developmental asymmetry." He offered no remedy.

Holds Up Darwinism.
Prof. W. C. Curtis of the University of Missouri, speaking at the same conference, urged the professors to present the doctrine of evolution fearlessly, in spite of the recent protests that are especially strong, he claims, in the south and southwest.

"Stop scrapping the workbooks over 25 years of age," urged Frank E. Hering, who last night recommended to the annual meeting of the American Association for Labor Legislation state laws to provide old age pensions and unemployment compensation.

Mr. Hering advocated the payment of a dollar a day to all men and women past 70 who need it.

Loves of Another Day.

Even the layman could understand the discussion of love and friendship which was led by Dr. Laurens Mills of Indiana university before the Modern Language association meeting. Contrasting Shakespeare's triangles with the three sided affairs that come into Chicago's courts, Dr. Mills declared that "owing to the place of women in Renaissance thought," it was customary for a man to give up his lady love to his best friend rather than lose a friendship. Where the modern triangle leads often to a shooting, the Shakespearean "two men and a girl" problem often had a happy ending with the blessing of the defeated suitor.

JUDGE STUDIES SPIRITUALISM.
Judge Hays yesterday began a study of spiritualism, so that he can intelligently rule on the case against Clarence and Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, spiritualists, 3009 West Jackson boulevard, charged with disorderly conduct.

WACKER FAVORS 650 FT. HEIGHT IN NAME OF BEAUTY

"Many skyscrapers are architectural monstrosities," Charles H. Wacker, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, declared yesterday in discussing the possibility of raising the building height ceiling of 400 feet which now limits downtown buildings.

Mr. Wacker asserted that he is in favor of "anything within reason which will develop beauty as well as usefulness in skyscrapers, at the same time safeguarding surrounding property as to health and sanitation."

Mr. Wacker asserted that the three designs printed in Time magazine on Wednesday prove his point.

"Though a thing of great beauty, design No. 1, which shows The Tribune tower as originally conceived by Howell and Hood with a height of 400 feet, gives me the impression that the building is unfinished—that it rises 400 feet, hits the ceiling, and stops there."

"Design No. 2, with a height of 570 feet, is a great improvement, while design No. 3, with a height of 650 feet, has given the architect sufficient height to finish the building, allowing it to reach architectural perfection."

STRUCK BY TRAIN; MAN DIES.
John Kulak, 18 years old, 11957 Calumet avenue, died yesterday of injuries suffered when he was struck by a suburban train.

3 LOSE LIVES IN DAY TRYING TO CROSS STREETS

Mrs. Anna McReady, 43 years old, 3521 South Hickwell street, was run down and fatally injured yesterday by an automobile driven by Roy Charles 3345 West 64th place. The accident occurred at Archer avenue and Canal street. She died in the People's hospital.

Charles Heil, 40 years old, 3334 South California avenue, a laborer, died in St. Anthony's hospital from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by Morris Linenthal, 1215 Independence boulevard. Linenthal was not held.

Struck by a machine as he was attempting to cross 35th street near State, J. Brandt, 55 years old, 3511 South Michigan avenue, sustained injuries which caused his death in the Lakeside hospital. The driver of the car did not stop.

A coroner's jury in Evanston concurred Miss Sarah Huguenin, 504 West Lake avenue, Evanston, of any responsibility in the death of Miss Stella M. Skinner, professor of art at Northwestern university. Miss Skinner was run down by Miss Huguenin's automobile three weeks ago.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR DECAPITATED.
Aided by the girl's married sister, Mrs. Lucille Marchetti, police are searching for Christine Stallero, 17 year old Malvern Park telephone operator who disappeared yesterday. Mrs. Marchetti says she has stopped.

SENATE UNITED IN FELICITATING WILSON AT 66

Old Irreconcilables Join in Resolution.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—By a unanimous vote the senate today passed a resolution congratulating Woodrow Wilson on his sixty-sixth birthday and his "rapid recovery to good health." The resolution was engrossed upon special vellum at the government printing office and was rushed to the Wilson home tonight accompanied by a friendly note from Vice President Coolidge.

The senate has passed many congratulatory resolutions, but in recent years there has been no precedent for its action today in felicitating a private citizen upon his improving health.

The resolution was submitted by Senator Harris (Dem., Ga.).

Irreconcilables Join Tribute.
Most of the senators were in their seats, including such irreconcilables to the Versailles treaty as Lodge, Reed of Missouri, Johnson, Brandegee, Moses, France, Poindexter, Norris, and La Follette. The resolution read:

"Whereas, The senate has heard with great pleasure the announcement of the rapid recovery to good health of former President the Hon. Woodrow Wilson, be it

"Resolved, That the Vice President be requested to express to the Hon. Woodrow Wilson the pleasure and joy of the senate of the United States because of his rapid recovery to good health."

The former President passed the day quietly at his home on S street. All day long messenger boys arrived with telegrams and cables of good wishes from all parts of the world, and there was a very heavy mail also conveying congratulations.

Told of "Wilson Foundation."
Except for immediate members of the family and a few personal friends, the only callers were a committee representing the Woodrow Wilson foundation, headed by Hamilton Holt of New York. A demonstration by Mr. Wilson's admirers in front of his home had been planned for this afternoon, but this was called off because of a pouring rain. Nevertheless, when Mr. Holt and his committee arrived there were over a hundred people, in addition to photographers and newspaper men, who shivered in the cold rain, hopeful of catching a glimpse of Mr. Wilson.

The Holt committee came to Washington to inform Mr. Wilson of the permanent establishment yesterday of the Woodrow Wilson foundation, to make awards to those who render "meritorious service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought, or peace through justice."

GERMAN LABOR DEMANDS RICH HELP PAY ALLIES

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—[A deadlock in preparing new government reparations proposals is reported, owing to efforts of the Socialists to bargain over time work for the projected tax on capital. It is understood that the Socialists receded from their position that an eight hour day is sacred, but they are willing to make exception only on condition that realty and other holdings be taxed on a graduated scale, giving the poor the lowest percentage. The government's difficulties in preparing new proposals, combined with the report that American participation is farther remote than was anticipated, caused a depression on the bourse, the mark tottering to 8,000 to the dollar, but recovering to 7,500.

France All Set.
PARIS, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—The French government has practically completed its plans for the seizure of certain German assets for sale as a result of the formal action of the reparations commission last Tuesday in declaring Germany in voluntary default for her failure to deliver the specific amount of timber during the present year.

Mussolini Stays Away.
ROME, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—Premier Mussolini informed his cabinet today that he would not attend the conference of allied premiers in Paris next week.

Congressman Mann's Estate Worth More than $250,000

Property valued at more than $250,000 is included in the estate of the late Congressman James R. Mann, whose will was filed for probate yesterday afternoon before Assistant Probate Judge William Scherwat. The will names the widow, Mrs. Emma Columbus Mann, 1614 East 66th street, and their son, the late James R. Mann Jr., as sole heirs. As a result of the death of the son Mrs. Mann will inherit the entire estate.

HINT SINISTER AID TWICE FREES ELLER EMPLOYEE

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

Convinced that powerful political influence has been exerted to protect Abe Klass, chauffeur for Morris Eller, sanitary district trustee, whose automobile has killed two persons recently, relatives of Miss Blanche Sommer, one of the victims, appealed yesterday to First Assistant State's Attorney Edgar Jonas for a grand jury investigation of the circumstances of Klass' exoneration by two coroners' juries.

Manslaughter indictments will be sought, according to John Sommer and Miss Estelle Sommer, brother and sister of the dead girl. They charge that the influence even has reached the attorneys they retained to present the facts to the state's attorney.

Within six weeks after the death of Miss Sommer, who lived at 1310 South Millard avenue, Klass ran into and killed William C. Bremner, a postal employe.

Coroner's juries, after the inquests in both cases had been continued a number of times and at least two substitutions of jurors had taken place, acquitted Klass of criminal responsibility in the deaths.

In the case of Miss Sommer the acquittal was accomplished, according to the certified minutes of the hearing submitted to Mr. Jonas, despite the fact that Miss Estelle Sommer, an eyewitness to the accident, testified that Klass was driving so fast that after striking her sister he skidded more than eighty feet.

Measurement of the marks left on the pavement revealed, says John Sommer, that the car slid 140 feet before it could be stopped and Miss Sommer's body removed from the bumper.

BATTERED NOSE CLEARS MYSTERY.
The mystery of a blood bespattered automobile, found abandoned at Sheridan road and Windsor avenue early yesterday morning, was solved later in the day when John Schmidt, 2300 South Michigan avenue, appeared to claim the machine. A battered nose was responsible for the blood marks.

1 Ounce Typewriter, Fitting in Pocket, New Invention

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 28.—A typewriter weighing one ounce and fitting in a vest pocket was brought by Dr. H. E. Wetherell of Philadelphia to the meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He devised it for his own use. Held between the fingers and upon the paper, the machine writes by means of a wheel equipped with rubber letters, which special devices bring in contact with the paper. Dr. Wetherell said that operation of the typewriter was slow in the hands of a beginner, but an experienced writer could attain a speed of seventeen words a minute. It is almost noiseless.

WAS HE DREAMING?

His brain reeled! His benumbed senses struggled for tangibility. His arms described wide, nameless semi-circles, wildly groping for coherent grasp of his surroundings... then Music, in a rare harmonious burst of syncopation, weird yet strangely familiar. He slowly opens his eyes.

CAPTURED BY BANDITS

Arab outlaws at that, was the first thought. Well, whatever their object, they certainly had taken him far enough away. This surely was not within the boundaries of Chicago, his gradually returning senses intimated. No, and not even America. What was this anyway? A Scene from Arabian Nights? Who were all these strange creatures? And what was the meaning of this bizarre atmosphere? As the phantasmagoria cinematically unfolded before his eyes with his slowly returning consciousness, he drinks in the rapturous beauty of the view:

SHANGHAIED!

That's it. He has been "shanghaied" by some sinister expedition, but as his thoughts become more orderly, he gradually grasps the surroundings more fully. On the delightfully smooth glass-like Ball Room Floor—were his eyes deceiving him? No, that is surely what it is—

A BALLROOM FLOOR

He observes an old pal, and then another and still another and another. And there is a girl he knows well. Then suddenly with a rush of intelligence he recognizes

A hard year to beat

The past twelve months have been eventful ones for The Chicago Tribune. In the seventy-fifth year of its life every department of this organization fairly surpassed itself.

THE COLOROTO PROCESS for intaglio printing in four colors from etched copper cylinders was developed by Tribune mechanical departments and utilized with splendid results.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS was paid in prizes to architects to secure a superlatively beautiful design for a new Tribune Administration Building—a contest which won praise from scores of nations.

THE FOREIGN NEWS SERVICE of The Tribune scored so many notable scoops in Europe, Asia and South America that many European newspapers, as well as 28 in the United States, are now buying and giving prominence to its news reports.

THE COURTS have thus far upheld The Tribune on every contested point in its legal battle to thwart the attempted theft of $4,891,000 from the City of Chicago under the guise of "experts' fees."

AN ATTEMPT TO STIFLE the freedom of the press by a libel suit for ten million dollars' damages against The Tribune in the name of the City of Chicago was checked by a decision of Judge Harry M. Fisher, which attracted world wide attention.

MAYOR THOMPSON'S personal libel suit against The Tribune came to trial, but the mayor insisted on an adjournment because of the illness of a juror, even though his case had been presented and The Tribune was willing to go ahead.

NEW STEEL STEAMERS (The Chicago Tribune and The New York News), specially built for carrying pulp logs, were put in commission between The Tribune's timber lands and mill.

"WORDING A WANT AD to Make it Pay," a book published by The Tribune and distributed free of charge, educated tens of thousands of readers in the better use of space with consequent increased results. More than three million replies to box number ads were handled by The Tribune's Want Ad postoffice during 1922. Another book, "The WGN," the first ever issued describing in detail all processes in the publication of a modern metropolitan newspaper, was published by The Tribune in commemoration of its 75th birthday.

AND in advertising and in circulation The Tribune smashed all previous records.

The Tribune, therefore, enters 1923 with the prestige of age and energy of youth—with the momentum of seventy-five successful years and the dynamic spontaneity inherent in the job of turning out the world's greatest newspaper every twenty-four hours.

We believe that for the entire United States, and we are sure that for The Chicago Tribune—1923 will beat 1922!

GRAIN MARKETS DEVELOP SLUMP; BUYING ABSENT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain markets revealed their action of the previous day and closed with a heavy undertone at practically the lowest prices of the day. Deferred deliveries of wheat were 1/4c lower, while December was unchanged. Corn was 1/4c lower, oats 1/4c lower, and rye 1/4c lower.

There was an utter absence of the aggressive buying of wheat by New York interests which was such a factor on Wednesday. Instead there was heavy and persistent selling by commission houses and local longs, with support coming almost entirely from resting orders. The latter were in evidence every day.

Local sentiment was much more bearish than of late, and the heaviness in corn had considerable influence. Open- ing prices were steady to 1/4c higher, with May touching 1/2c, equaling the best price of the season, but a drop to 1/4c came just before the close. The December acted tight and went to 1/4c over the May at the last, having a range of only 1/4c for the day.

Corn showed a heavy undertone throughout the day, with a continuation of the heavy commission house selling which has been in evidence for some time past, and prices dropped to a new low on the present downturn. At the low point May was 1/4c, or 1/4c under the previous close, with a rally of 1/4c from the inside figure on scattered short covering at the finish. Export demand was keen, with sales of around 1,000,000 bu at the seaboard, but the sales failed to stimulate outside buying.

Oats failed to show independent action and weakened in sympathy with corn. December closed 1/4c under May.

Numerous export bids for rye were in the market, but were somewhat below a working basis. The two northwestern markets had 271 cars.

Provisions showed an easier undertone. Prices follow:

	Dec. 28	Dec. 27	Dec. 26	Dec. 25	Dec. 24
Wheat	10.87	10.87	10.87	10.87	10.87
Corn	10.97	10.97	10.97	10.97	10.97
Oats	11.15	11.15	11.15	11.15	11.15
Rye	10.90	10.90	10.90	10.90	10.90

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of 700,000 bu wheat, practically all Manitoba, and 100,000 to 700,000 bu corn were reported at the seaboard yesterday, with a little business in rye, but there was some hard winter wheat sold at the rate of 10c per bushel. The United States market was unsettled. It is estimated that New York bakers have bought 1,000,000 bu flour recent for January, February, and March shipment.

Chicago handlers sold 15,000 bu wheat, 80,000 bu corn, and 100,000 bu oats to the domestic trade and 200,000 bu corn to exporters, with 50,000 bu wheat sold to 10c to 11c.

No material change was shown in No. 2 grades of cash wheat at Chicago with No. 2 red and No. 2 hard wheat over December. No. 2 hard was higher at 1/4c under December. The United States market was unsettled. It is estimated that New York bakers have bought 1,000,000 bu flour recent for January, February, and March shipment.

Nov. Dec. 23.—[Special].—An decline in prices on today's market, with the largest total loss since Nov. 14, and with a decline of separate stocks dealt in at high record, was the result of the theory that this was the beginning of a new era of selling to establish income.

The explanation was given by the fact that this was the day of 1923 on which such a decline had been effected by payment in the regular way, a fact that nobody even suspected the weakness in stocks resulting from the news or speculation.

The day's declines were not so extended pretty much as yesterday. They had no connection in the money market, where the stock exchange rate was

New Photos of Mer Rouge and Principals in Klan Murders — Boy Shoots Father in Fight for Gun.

IT'S LIKELY TO BE THE MOST TALKED OF "MAIN STREET" IN U. S. This is the principal thoroughfare in Mer Rouge, La., center of the war being waged by the state against masked men who last August murdered Watt Daniels and Samuel Richards.

WHERE FIVE KLAN VICTIMS WERE AMBUSHED. This point is one mile from Bastrop. There is a depression in the road and the klansmen were hidden in the grass.

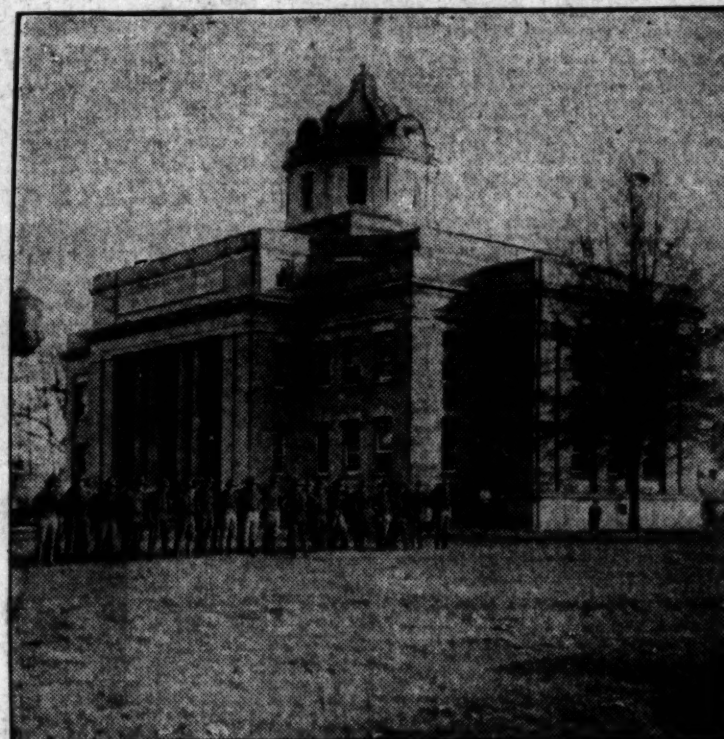

OPERA STAR EXPRESSES EMOTION WITH GESTURES. Claudia Muzio of the Civic opera is attracting attention for her ability to use her hands. Here she is shown pleading.

BRIDE-TO-BE AND DEBUTANTE. Miss Olga Lihme, at left, whose engagement was announced at the coming out ball given last night for her sister, Anita.

MUST REMAIN IN JAIL. Dr. B. M. McKoin, former mayor of Mer Rouge, loses habeas corpus fight to obtain freedom in Baltimore. Photo was taken after his arrest.

TROOPS DRILL IN COURTYARD. This is the courthouse in Bastrop, La., where trials of masked murderers will be conducted by Louisiana authorities.

SHOOTS PARENT. Joe Massucci wounds father in struggle over gun.

ADJUDGED SANE. Robert Resch, court rules, must stand trial for slaying father.

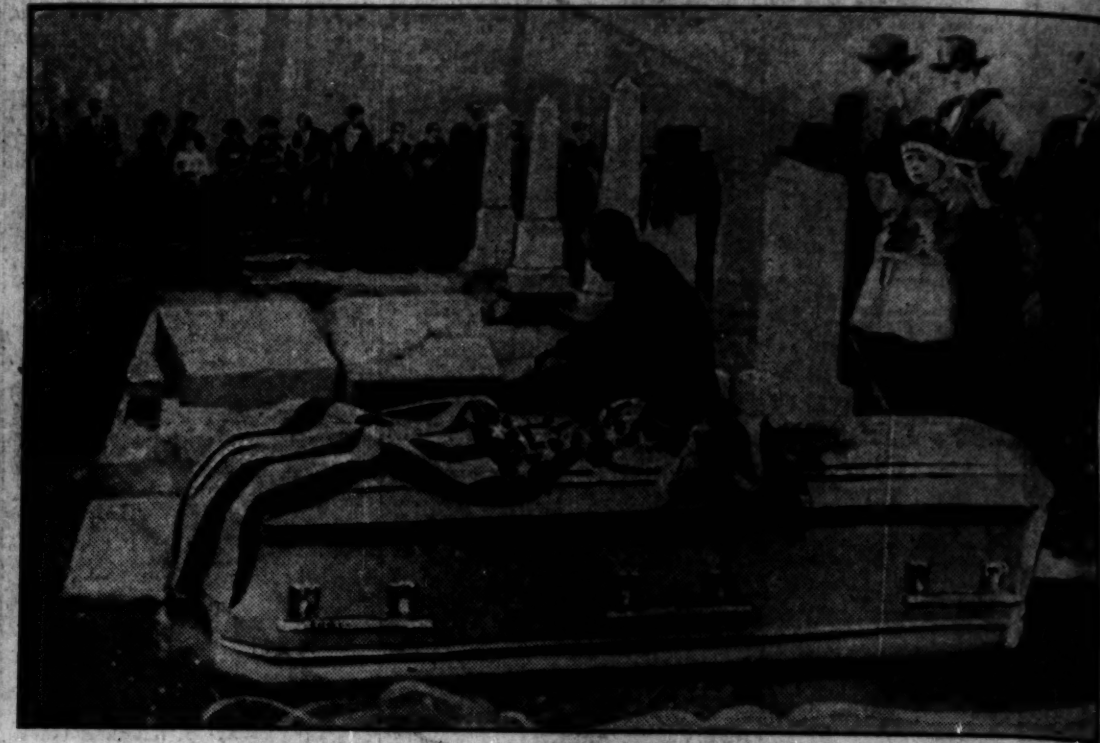

"HOW TO BECOME A SENATOR" is the title of the text book which Senator S. W. Brookhart of Iowa is studying these nights in his Washington office.

"COUSIN EVERETT" is again arrested for bad checks. He once posed as President's kin.

"OTHER MAN" BEAT. Mrs. Edna Sheridan's husband fought her escort in loop.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR VICTIMS OF MASKED BAND. J. E. Daniels is seated beside the casket of his son, F. Watt Daniels, at the burial of the youth and Thomas F. Richards, slain by members of a hooded band in Mer Rouge, La.

ON THE BANK OF LAKE LA FOURCHE. Those in the group are Maj. Fulton and Capt. Cooper of the militia, J. E. Daniels, father of the murdered man, villagers, and Robert Lee (in light overcoat), whose great dispatch in Thursday's Tribune won widespread comment.

NEW TRIER HIGH SCHOOL FIVE DEFEATS CENTRALIA. The north shore quintet won from the 1932 state champions by a 23-17 score at Patten gym last night. New Trier's team, left to right: Fraser, Nelson, Smith, Cullen, and Roth.

WEDDING BARON. Baroness Stancovic of Centralia refused license to marry Dr. Albert Lorenz of New York.
